VIOLIN AND SONG RECITAL. Programme of Special Merit Given Before Woman's Club By Miss Burlingame and C. H. Caswell.

There was a very large attendance at the violin and song recital at the Woman's club Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. C. H. Caswell was in charge of the programme which was well chosen. Miss Bertha Burlingame of Pawtucket, R. I. was the violinist. Miss Burlingame has studied in this country and abroad. In Berlin she was a pupil of the celebrated teacher, Theodore Spiering. Her tone is broad and full, ery clear and sweet at all times. Her left hand is well developed, her finger-ering clear cut and crisp throughout. Her bowing is on par with her finger-ing, her wrist free and flexible. She ling, her wrist free and flexible. She played Stille Sicherheit, by Franz, in broad, singing tone. The double stop work in Little Song, was very accurate. All her work was delightful but she excelled as an interpreter of Kreisler, having five of his numbers on her programme. Especially pleas-ing was her rendering of the Viennese Popular Song.

Mr. Caswell was heard in six numbers which were sung in splendid man-ner. A Spirit Flower by Campbell-Tipton, was given with much expression. His rendering of Invictus, by Huhn was a delight to the audience. He sang it in a very dramatic, declamatory style, every word being distinct-ly ennunciated, and the accompanithe bridge, arrived at Central Village Tuesday morning. This new steel bridge with concrete foundations is replacing an old wooden bridge which was torn down last fall. Workmen immediately set to work constructing n new bridge and succeeded on finish-ing the concrete foundations for the steel work on both banks of the Quinebaug river before the cold weather set in, when work was suspended. The people of Central Village who live on the southern side of the river were put to great inconvenience when the bridge was torn down as they were forced to reach the downtown section either by crossing the railroad trestle, which was considered to be dangerous, or to go around to the state road and cross the bridge there.
